

lowing that there was no such act in 1636:

1. There is no record of it. Only two acts of the 1635/6-1636/7 sessions of the Virginia Assembly have been preserved, and the titles to ten others are known [see the preface to the Journals of the House of Burgesses of Virginia 1619-1658/59 (Richmond, 1915), page xxxv], and none of them refers to physicians, surgeons or apothecaries.
2. Wickes cites as his authority the "Half Yearly Compendium of Medical Science," Jan. 1878 (which see, page 66). This, however, gives the date correctly as 1736.
4. The Act was first published as Chapter X of the Acts of 1736 in, Anno Regni Georgii II, Regis . . . Decimo. At a General Assembly . . . continued . . . to the fifth day of August . . . 1786 (Williamsburg, 1736), pages 26-27.
5. Although the General Court of Connecticut (i. e., the legislature) licensed physicians in the seventeenth century, there seems to have been no legislation covering the matter. Reputation apparently was the major criterion in granting the license.
6. "An Act to prevent the Importation of adulterated and spurious Drugs and Medicines," Statutes at Large and Treaties of the U. S. A., 1845-1851 (Boston, 1851), pages 237-239; known as Vol. IX of the Statutes at Large.

8. J. W. England, Ed., The First Century of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy (n. p., 1922), pages 21, 24; and LaWall, page 576.
9. The Act was first published in Acts Passed by the General Assembly of South Carolina . . . continued . . . to the 24th Day of April, 1751 (Charleston, 1751), pages 31-38.
10. The term "benefit of clergy" is the Anglicization of the legal term Privilegium Clericale and should not be given its modern literal interpretation.
11. "An Act directing the Trial of Slaves committing capital Crimes....," Hening, Statutes at Large, Vol. VI, page 105.
12. "An Act for ordering and governing slaves within this province....," R. Watkins and G. Watkins, Digest of the Laws of the State of Georgia (Philadelphia, 1800), pages 163-179.
13. In his preface to, B. Malinowski, Argonauts of the Western Pacific (London, 1922), page xliii.
14. "An Act imposing new Taxes," Hening, Statutes at Large, Vol. XII, pages 283-287. This was repealed in 1790: "An Act to Repeal Part of an Act imposing new Taxes," Ibid., Vol. XIII, pages 114-115.
15. "An Act for suppressing of Mountebanks," "Acts and Laws of the State of Connecticut" (New London, 1784), pages 161-162.
16. "An Act to regulate the practice of physick and surgery . . .," S. Allinson, "Acts of the General Assembly of the Province of New Jersey" (Burlington, 1776), pages 376-377.
17. "An Act to regulate the practice of physic and surgery . . .," W. Paterson, Laws of the State of New Jersey (Newark, 1800), pages 51-52.
18. A translation of the complete broadside is available. See D. C. McMurtie, "A Louisiana Decree of 1770," in New Orleans Medical and Surgical Journal, Vol. LXXXVI, No. 1, July 1933, pages 7-11.
