

SUPPORT AIHP'S PHARMACY EDUCATION FUND

Share in the preservation of pharmacy's rich heritage and promote instruction in professional ethics and instruction in the history and social aspects of pharmacy.

The American Institute of the History of Pharmacy's Pharmacy Education Fund is a collaborative project between AIHP and American schools and colleges of pharmacy.

The Pharmacy Education Fund has supported several important projects, including: designing a White Coat Ceremony booklet that can be customized for any institution, converting the famed Parke-Davis Great Moments in Pharmacy series into an instructional powerpoint, and adding the entire run of Pharmacy in History, AIHP's quarterly journal, to JStor.

New Pharmacy Education Fund members can receive a complimentary copy of Pharmacy: An Illustrated History by David L. Cowen and William H. Helfand
